Who we are?

Reach Autism Learning is a Non-Profit Charity organization, that offers support for one on one play based support, for preschool, school age and young adults.

MORE INFO...

At Reach, our mission is simple: we are here to reach families and children living with autism. We provide educational services that allow autistic children to experience learning success. We offer practical support for parents—guiding them through the challenges of raising a child with autism. But more than that, we provide hope. We show parents that their children are capable of learning, and that they can achieve amazing things, no matter what their challenges may look like.
